SAMPLE CASE STUDY 1

INDIAN LEATHER GOODS EXPORTS

Leather and leather goods are one of the largest export categories of India. Although there has been a significant increase in the export of this product group, India's performance has been poor in comparison with late comers like China and South Korea. India's share of world exports of leather and leather goods fell from about 9 per cent in the early 1970s to about 3 per cent in the early 1990s. The Indian leather industry is considered as one with large export potential. Large raw material base, processing facilities and availability of cheap and skilled labor were India's strengths. According to a study by the Indo-German Export Promotion Project (IGEP), India has the basic strength of material and human resources which it must harness to forge ahead. Indian leather industry employees about 15 lakh people are dominated by small family units many of which have been in this business for generations. The reservation of leather manufacturing for the small scale sector and the licensing policy discouraged the entry of large units in the industry. Leather industry continued under licensing, untouched by the economic liberalization of 1991. However, of late the market witnessed the entry of big players like Liberty, Phoenix, Lakhani and Aero. Large houses like Hindustan Lever, L & T and Tata has also been in the leather business. Most Indian manufacturers import finished leather from abroad to execute export orders. In fact, many of them merely execute contracts using the buyer's leather in the buyer's colours as per the buyer's designs with the buyer's trimmings. An interesting development has been that a number of Indian firms who were primarily in the export business have recently turned to the domestic market due to various reasons. In case of Aero it was the collapse of the Soviet Union and the resultant substantial excess capacity with its export oriented unit that provoked it to turn to the booming domestic market and to new markets in Europe. The development of the Indian market, as evinced by the total market expansion and emergence of considerable demand for premium and fashionable products and fierce competition in the international market from China, Malayasia, Thailand and South Korea which combined high labour productivity with low cost inputs have promoted many firms to pay due attention to the

Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC)

domestic market. The list of such firms includes Liberty, Wasan Shoes, Mideast India (which markets the Mescos brand) Hidesign, and

R.Y. Gaitonde and Co. Another interesting development is that several foreign firms have manufacturing marketing tie-ups with Indian firms. Some Indian firms have such tie-ups with more than one foreign firm. Phoenix which has its own brands in the market manufactures for Reebok. Reebok has manufacturing contracts with Lotus Bawa and Lakhani which also manufactures shoes for Adidas, which is an arch rival of Reebok. Their earlier choices were Korea and Taiwan. Recently they have moved to countries like Vietnam, China and India. One of the major hurdles in increasing India's exports is the shortage of raw materials. To get a 10 per cent share in the world market, India will need 4.8 million sq. feet of raw leather against the availability of 3.5 million sq. feet. One of the immediate problems to be addressed is to reduce the wastage of hides and skin, the loss on account of which is estimated to be about Rs. 660 crore annually. The leather technology mission, launched in 1995, had an uphill task in this respect. Over 1500 tanneries had to be modernized. Government decided to establish a Leather Industry Development Fund (LIDF) through development fee to be raised in lieu of the export duty abolished in the 1994-1996 Union Budget. Pollution is a serious problem of the leather industry. Use of certain chemicals/ dyes which are not acceptable in foreign markets will have to be stopped. The LIDF should help ensure compliance with international demand for eco-label for leather and leather products. A new trend in leather manufacture in the developed countries is the use of computers for the simplification of existing machinery in the leather manufacture. Already microelectronics is being applied to certain process of leather goods manufacture. The scale of operation and resources of the Indian units again pose a problem in respect of such modernizations. Further, if and when these electronic and computer controlled machinery are introduced in the Third World countries, the cost differential will be less because operations will be less labour intensive. Germany emerged as the biggest importer of leather goods in the EC, with over one third of its sales of footwear being accounted for by goods of Indian origin. Other major markets are UK, France, USA, Italy, Japan and the CIS. Demand in Asia is growing. One of the important problems which Indian exporters encounter is the unfavorable Consumer attitude towards Indian products. According to a former President of the Council for Leather

Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC)

Exports, leather goods exports from India face a highly biased international market. At a Paris fair he had himself exhibited goods that could not be bid for more than $85. But, changing the site of exhibition to a German stall, he could market the same for $125. Similarly, a jacket that could not be sold for 125 French Francs was accepted for 900 Francs, just because it was carrying a different brand name. Italian goods enjoy a good reputation in the Western markets. Italian leather goods manufacturers enjoy the benefit of easy availability at low price of the chemicals needed for manufacture of leather goods. Compared to the situation in Italy, though Indian labor is cheap, Indian machinery and chemicals are not up to the mark. An interesting fact is that, Italy, which is an important supplier of leather goods in the Western market, is one of the most important importers of leather items from India. Indian leather goods imported to Italy are stamped by Italian firms and re-exported to other countries without any further finish or packing. The re-exported goods fetch a better price. What is worse is that foreign markets buy inferior grade leather from India and finish these for high priced items. Indian manufactures are still unable to utilize such leather to their advantage. This is exactly the opposite in Holland or Italy where inferior grade leather is used in a big way.

QUESTIONS:

1. Discuss the strengths and weaknesses of the Indian leather industry vis-a-vis the international Market for leather goods.
2. Discuss the role of the Government, Council for Leather Exports (CLE) and the industry in the healthy development of the Indian leather industry.
3. Discuss the marketing, including branding, pricing, distribution and promotion, strategies appropriate for Indian leather goods in the international market.
4. What can the CLE do to improve the image of the Indian leather goods?
5. How will the expansion of the domestic market help the Indian leather goods exporters?
6. What are the possible benefits to the Indian firms from the tie-up with the foreign firms?
